MEDICINAL.

"Badly Crippled."

Rheumatism at its worst is a sort of living death. It chains a man to a chair or binds him to a bed, and metes out to him a daily martyrdom. At the best rheumatism is a painful malady, interfering alike with pleasure and business.

To cure rheumatism it is necessary to eliminate from the blood the acid poisons which are the cause of the disease. This is effectually done by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It carries out of the blood the corrupt and poisonous accumulations which breed and feed disease. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands and sends an increased supply of rich, pure blood through vein and artery to strengthen every organ of the body.

I had been troubled with rheumatism for twelve years, so bad that I could not get up. I tried many doctors and medicines, but none did me much good. The pains in my back, hips and legs (and at times in my head) would nearly kill me. My appetite was very bad. Nearly every day I would say, "I wish I could die." I took five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and today my health is good after suffering twelve years with rheumatism.

Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are powerful aids to the cleansing of the clogged system. By all dealers in medicine.

LETTER FROM PAGE.

Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette, Luray, Va., January 11.—As a reader of your valuable paper for thirty years, I not only congratulate the Gazette upon its "green, old age," but that in its age it is always young, vigorous and a potent factor for good. May it always be ready, as it has been, to stand for the right in the presentation of issues to our people.

The water system for Luray is now practically nearing completion, the pipe line being finished, save a few hundred yards, not originally contemplated, leading out from West Luray to the caverns. The reservoir will require a week or more work. The line is five miles long, beginning at Dry Run Falls, at the foot of Stony Man (Blue Ridge). An intake, or well, first receives the water on the bank of Dry Run. From this point terra cotta twelve inch pipes conduct it to the reservoir, one and a half miles, and from the reservoir, eight inch iron pipes conduct it to Luray. The reservoir is 225 feet above the point where the line touches the town, and this pressure will be used to send fire by use simply of hose. E. A. Wilson is the contractor.

Another new institution is being built—a sanitarium. This building is a large one, directly over one of the large rooms of the caverns, the object being to utilize the air from the caverns in the treatment of consumption in its early stages. A shaft is bored from the surface into the chamber below, and the air therefrom conducted into the sanitarium. This is entirely a new move in the treatment of pulmonary diseases, and is thought to be a good one by those who have the matter in charge. The water line is now being laid to this building. From this it will be seen that Luray is now a live place and sees its advantages and will make use of them. We now have five steam plants, a large tannery, a bark mill, a flour mill, a planing mill and a gas plant, and all are doing well. Luray has telephone communication with Newmarket just completed and with Sperryville, a newly repaired and equipped line.

KILLED BY HIS COFFIN.—Abram Rothmeyer, an eccentric German citizen of Sharon, Pa., aged about seventy-three years, some time ago became imbued with the notion that after his death, body snatchers would take his body from the grave and sell it to some medical college. He did not believe in cremation, so he had a heavy metal casket with an equally strong lock made at Cleveland. The casket was delivered to his home a short time ago and he had it set on end in a room. There are other cases recorded in which living persons fondled such grim companions as caskets, but old Rothmeyer seemed to take special delight in daily inspecting the receptacle sacred to the dead. A few nights ago Rothmeyer was trying to move the heavy casket, when it fell on him. He died yesterday. Physicians say a blood vessel in his head had been ruptured. Rothmeyer has been buried in the coffin that had killed him.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY.—Professor R. A. Fessenden, a scientist connected with the U. S. weather bureau, is in Norfolk for the purpose of making some experiments with wireless telegraphy. His experiments will be made along the coast, and stations will be established at Cape Hatteras and Henry and at other coast points north of Cape Hatteras. This marks the first serious effort on the part of the government to communicate storm warnings to vessels at sea off that dangerous locality. It is intended also to send storm signals to the life saving stations along the coast by this means when the wires are disabled, as is frequently the case. The towers to be erected along the coast will be manned by experts under the personal supervision of Professor Fessenden, who will have full charge of all the experiments. If the tests are successful, the entire coast will be similarly equipped, and the benefits derived will, it is believed, be very great.
